Plastic in the World's Oceans
 Set to Triple over Next Decade

Plastic pollution is one of the biggest threats facing the world's oceans. An estimated 12 million tonnes of plastic is found in the ocean and washed up around our planet each year. Plastic isn't biodegradable and it stays in the environment for up to 1000 years.

Every year, hundreds of thousands of animals choke to death on large pieces of plastic, which they mistake for food.

There are many groups working to protect the world's oceans. They are asking big corporations to reduce plastic packaging and governments to introduce bans on microbeads and carrier bags.

By taking action now, we can stop further damage to our planet's precious marine environment.

Quick Questions

1. Find and copy a word which describes materials which rot down easily.

2. How much plastic is believed to enter our oceans each year?

3. Sum up the main issues regarding plastic pollution in 20 words or less.

4. By reducing excessive packaging, how would big corporations help stop plastic pollution in the ocean?

A Helicopter Tour of London

Welcome aboard this tour of London, the capital city of England. Below us, over eight million people are living and working in one of the most exciting cities in the world. You can see the famous River Thames flowing through the city and some rowers practising for their yearly boat race. The Thames is full of slimy eels and oysters. Would you like to try some? Beside the Thames, you can see the Tower of London, where the crown jewels are kept, and over in the distance is Buckingham Palace, where the Queen and her royal family live. Underneath the ground in London is the famous underground railway, known as the 'tube'. What a fantastic city this is!

Quick Questions

1. Match these places to what you would find there.

River Thames

crown jewels

Tower of London

The Queen

Buckingham Palace

eels and oysters

2. How does the author feel about London? Use evidence from the text to support your answer.

3. What might the passengers see next on the tour?

4. Which word from the text means the same as 'next to'?
