

Euro 2020 (Summer 2021)

The Union of European Football Associations (UEFA) Euro 2020 football tournament will take place in June and July 2021 across multiple nations in Europe. The tournament has been rescheduled due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

The Euros

The UEFA European Championship, commonly known as the Euros, is a football competition involving national teams from across Europe. Typically held every four years, teams compete to become the continental champions. The last European Championship — hosted in Paris, France, in 2016 — was won by Portugal.

Host Cities

The 2020 games were originally planned as a special event to celebrate the tournament's 60th anniversary. Rather than being hosted by one nation, the games would be played in different venues across different nations during July 2020. The host cities are:

- Amsterdam, the Netherlands
- Baku, Azerbaijan
- Bucharest, Romania
- Budapest, Hungary
- Copenhagen, Denmark
- Glasgow, Scotland
- London, England
- Munich, Germany
- Rome, Italy
- St Petersburg, Russia
- Seville, Spain

The opening match will take place at the Stadio Olimpico in Rome. The semi-final matches and the final match will take place at Wembley Stadium in London. All other cities will host at least three matches.

Euro 2020 Teams

In order to earn a place in the finals of the Euro 2020, a total of 55 national teams were put into groups to compete in qualifying matches. The best-performing 24 teams were then put into six groups for the finals. The groupings are as follows:

Group A: Italy Switzerland Turkey Wales	Group B: Belgium Denmark Finland Russia	Group C: Austria The Netherlands North Macedonia Ukraine
Group D: Croatia Czech Republic England Scotland	Group E: Poland Slovakia Spain Sweden	Group F: France Germany Hungary Portugal
