

Haunted

Everyone at school was talking about it. They were all convinced that there was something in there, something ...awful. I didn't believe them and I was going to prove them all wrong. Then maybe they would stop calling me 'chicken'. How could there be anything? There hadn't been anyone living here for years.

I marched up the path with more confidence than I really felt, took a deep breath and knocked on the door. Three loud knocks. My heart froze at what happened next...

1. Where is the child in the story?
2. Why is there?
3. What do you think happened next?

The exam

As I sat down at the table, I felt my worries wash away. It felt like my exams were a million years ago. This was my very favourite restaurant.

"Choose whatever you like Danny," said Dad,

"you deserve it. "

1. Why do you think Danny has gone out for a meal?
2. Why does his dad say he deserves to choose whatever he likes?
